In the evening the band was engaged at Bridgeport, where their fine music soon called together all Bridgeport men, women, children, dogs, flags, &c., and after the sun had set and partly by the light of the moon a hondsome Hays and Wheeler pole was raised 135 feet in the air, from the top of which a fine flag sports her colors in honor of the party which preserved them intact as Mr. Todd told them, together with many other things in his speech. No Business.—But little business, if any, was transacted at any of the public buildings yesterday, officials and clerks all being busy making preparations for the great Centennial Fourth. The offices at the State House and Court House were generally deserted, and at the city building, justices' offices, engine houses, sitch ones, etc., the regular routine of business was exchanged for the busy hunding in the bearing upon the great celebration, were full of people. This day, July 4, 1876, the hundredth anniversary of the Nation's birth, will be fittingly welcomed in every sook and coner of the land. The ringing of belighte booming of canon and the display of fire-works will be the order, and the day will be universally observed. In every city, town and hamlet the people will gather together and the Declaration of Independence will be read, patriotic songs will be sung and speeches made. Let us hope that no disasters will happen, and that there will be a universal feeling of brotherhood North and South.

In Wheeling preparations have long been on foot, as recorded from time to time, teelebrate the one hundredth anniversary of our independence. Nowithstanding the dullness of trade and the dependence in bissuese circles the display.

The following docket was yesterday disposed of by His Honor:

The case against Mrs. J. W. Haggerty, charge with depositing offal upon ber premises, was dismissed.

Hannah Fitimmons was fined $5 for drunkenness. Execution was suspended, the defendant having agreed to leave the city and go to Pittaburgh.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ankeney was committed to jail for thirty days for disorderly conduct.

Edward Duffy and Scott Bell weeklarged with disorderly conduct.

Charles Hinkleman for abusing his wife, was sent to the city prison for thirty days.

They don't wish to be cooped up in a country township be it ever so nice a one, on a Centenial Fourth, but propose to join the innumerable caravan that will pour into our own city on that day, and witness the grandest celebration of the times. Again we say, the Martin's Ferry people are sound.

LUNATIC FROM THE PENITENTIARY—A colored man named Samuel Lewis was brought to the city resterday from Monthaville, having just been discharged from the penitentiary, on account of the expiration of his term of imprisonment. Lewis, we believe, was sentenced from one of the interior counties for the crime of rape. He was lodged in jail until quarters can be prepared for him at the Asylum for the Insane.

EXCRLSION GLASS COMPANY—A meeting of the stockholders of 'the Excelsion' (Glass Works was called for yeaterday alternoon for the purpose of electing as Board of Directors, but as the astock represented was not; atflicient, no election was had. The old board, composed of the following gentlemen, will accordingly hold over: Joseph Eeli, George Adams, James F. Barnes, Jacob S. Rholes, Elishs Paxton.

A OENTLEMAN with a bass drum went about the streets last hight, and his followers indulged in stinctry shouts and tonsiderable hillarity. The few who thought it was a Democratic rejoicing over the St. Louis nomination should be relieved from a false impression.

The city building was brilliantly illuminated, and decorated with flags of all nations. A string of lanterns crossed the the top of the flagstaff in front. The decoration and illumination were both most elaborate, and reflect great credit upon the projectors. From 12th street to the Crossing the bridge we found our-selves struggling with the ever increasing mass of people gathering from all parts of the city to the seat of the grand dis-play on Market street, and we were lost in the human torrent.

A RIG SIGHE. A BIO SOME.

It seems to be the inestimable privilege of the Amegicans to make a big noise when they celebrate. People thought there was a great din on our street New Year's night, but it was not a circumstance to that of last night. Tin horns, bells, drums, cymbals, in cans, anything and everything that would make a noise were brought into requisition.

The immense bell in front of Greer & Laing's hardware store on Main street, assisted by a similar one in the second story of Harper & Bros', hat store and still another at Wm. Hare's plumbing establishment agided to the general chamor establishment added to the general clamo made by the bells in the steeples. Ther made by the bolls in the steeples. Then there were bells sirting on ropes across the street, and pulled by boys at each end; strings of sleigh-bells hanging from windows, horses and wagons and heavy dinner bells in the hands of patrotic young gentlemen and ladies.

These were processions of hundreds of men and boys, armed to the teeth with anything calculated to make a noise, the most prominent of which was that of the "E.T.F. N. N." (Boys that Fear No. Noise Society). This society embraced a party of serenading negro minatrels, a wagon containing a mammoth horsefiddle, a burlesque brass band, and a hand-organ playing "Yankee Doodle" and other patriotic airs, besides appropriate banners and flags announcing the hand-organ playing "Yankee Doodle" and other patriotic airs, besides appropriate banners and flags asnouncing the origin and object of the association. Billy Meyer's orchestra brought up the rear, but could hardly be heard for the rattle of tin cans, ringing of bells, and other miscellaneous noises.

Midnight was ushered in by the ringing of all the bells in the city, and a salute of one hundred guns by the University Cadets, inj command of Lieut, Richmond, they having arrived during the afternoon. Upon Wheeling hill one hundred and filly tar barrels and two hundred gallons of gasoline were burned, illuminating the country for many miles welcomed the glorious Fourth with patriotic songs, while the Monteflore Literary Society spent an hour or so in speech making. The streets were crowded up to 1 o'clock this mobring, when the good people having seen all there was to be seen, retired to their homes to secure rest before the opening of the celebration to day. But the streets were not deserted by considerable, and the noise and confusion, although in a minor key, was kept up all night.

The day before we pounded his head to a jelly, and dropped his form from the window. In reply to our exclamation of wonder, he explained that the usage he, had received made him somewhat unwell, but he was too patriotic to leave the United States on the eve of a grand Centennial celebration. He said he had, since his recovery, written a new poem, which we eagerly grasped and then deliberately cut his head off, and pitched both head and body into the alley. Here are his spirited lines:

A good Babing Powder must not only be con-posed of pure materials but the ingredients must to combined in perfect propertions, chemically. Cheep Baking Powders are being forced on it market, made up from interior drugs, and in ut-chemical combination. In use of these, more less of injurious residue is let in the bread, th-use of which will produce indigestion, bearbur-dweensh, &c.

EXCELSIOR BAKING POWDER Those who have regard to health and true comy will use it in preference to any other. As for LOGAN, LIST & CO'S EXCELSION BAKING POWDER.

The Salt Valley left Pittsburgh yester-day for Ironton and intermediate points. Oapt. Wash. Kerr says he thinks he will have to run his packet from Pomeroy to Cincinnati on Sundays, so as to come in conflict with no other boat. The marks at the landing last evening indicated 5 feet 5 inches. The Heatherington arrived from below with a light tow Sunday night. The Charley McDonald passed down light Sunday night. NEW STOCK!
